Good Morning!

This morning concludes our youth DNOW weekend. DNOW, as it is commonly called, stands for Disciple Now. But, exactly what is DNOW? "Well, at its heart, DNOW is a time for small groups. Small groups usually consist of three to fifteen students getting together with a Small Group leader to share their hurts and struggles, ask questions about life, and wrestle with scripture together. Most of the time is spent with the students in host homes with their small groups. In this time, they will go through a Bible study together and then from that, discussion and prayer will flow on a variety of topics. Over the course of the weekend, they also all come together to participate in worship, a couple of meals, and a big team-building activity (ask them about Sign Wars!). Overall, DNOW gives students a taste of what the Christian life really should look like." [adapted from <https://www.disciplenowcurriculum.com/whatisdisciplenow>]

Thank you to Rhys and all of our adult volunteer workers, hosts, small group leaders, worship team, and everyone who helped in any way to make this weekend a success. Also, thank you to everyone who donated toward scholarships and food, and/or provided snacks for the host homes.

For those who are our guests today, in behalf of Roseland Park Baptist Church, you are welcome here! Of all of the places you could be, we are so glad you have chosen to spend this time with us. If you would like to know how to become part of the family of God, or even how to become part of the Roseland Park family, I would love to discuss it with you.

I Thank My God Always for You!

Dan
